ABOUT YUKIMI

Yukimi Annand is a calligrapher, lettering and book artist based in Southern California. She grew up in Japan and has a graphic design (visual communication) background. She is passionate about the beauty of Roman alphabet and creates unique artwork with her love of calligraphic mark making incorporated with nature. She has been experimenting with the usage of tools and mediums to expand her world of calligraphy. She also has been having a great pleasure to share her ideas and to give workshops all around the world since 2012.

Her works have been frequently shown in Letter Arts Review as well as other calligraphic journals and books. And they have been included in calligraphy collections in Berlin, San Francisco, and Moscow.

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

The Foundational Hand is based on the 10th century Ramsey Psalter (BL, Harley 2904) and was popularized by the English calligrapher Edward Johnston in the early 20th century. This letterform provides an excellent basis for understanding the structure of the minuscule alphabet. The form is based on the circle and vertical straight line, and it provides a very clear concept and a good lettering discipline.

This course begins with analysis of 10th century English Carolingian to observe how the form was structured and written. Then we study geometric skeleton form of the Foundational hand. Once the form and letter spacing become familiar, we study weighted form with broad edged tool. We will practice text writing with study of basic design, layout and composition as well as usage of colors.

As the hand's variation, narrow foundational hand and light weighted contemporary style of the hand will be presented. This study of the Foundational Hand will seed for learning calligraphic letterforms of almost any kind.

Students must be set up to take a Zoom class with video and audio (signed on one device); access to a printer is required to print some of the handouts.

* Appropriate for all levels of experience.
